Why I love teaching

- I love helping inspire children and watching them develop a passion for their learning.
- I find it so rewarding seeing the curiosity in all children and watching their confidence grow.
- I love seeing all children progress in some way across the year and helping them to do this.
- I love helping children to become the best person that they can be.

Here are some of the other adults that we will be lucky enough to work with throughout the year.
