Dear Parents/Carers

We are excited to tell you that, for the next two days, the team at Fairlands Primary School are helping Ofsted to develop a new school inspection framework which will be launched from the next academic year. Inspectors will come to visit Fairlands Primary School for two full days starting tomorrow but the lead inspector has been on site this afternoon to prepare.

The new framework focuses on the quality of education, behaviour and welfare, personal development and leadership and management. As we are currently due a visit from Ofsted, it will be very informative for the school and we will learn important information about the future of inspections. No grades will be issued as a result of this pilot; this means that there will be no formal report posted online.

The governors and I would like to thank all of the staff for facilitating this extra visit from Ofsted. We would also like to thank Ofsted for choosing Fairlands Primary School to visit (only 200 out of 16,500 schools nationally were chosen).

We will let you know about any feedback we receive as a school.

Best regards

Robert Staples
