Dear Parents/Carers

As you may have been aware, we were supporting Ofsted last week by taking part in a pilot inspection for the new framework, which is being published in September this year.

Although there are no written reports following pilots, I can tell you that the inspection went extremely well and the team identified many strengths across the school.

I want to say a huge well done to the teachers and to the children for showing Fairlands at its very best to our visitors. We are now looking forward to welcoming inspectors for our real inspection, later this year!
